Theology of the Body

CTK was one of the first schools in the Archdiocese to implement “Theology of the Body” into our curriculum K-8. Theology of the Body is based on the talks given by Saint John Paul II. It is about the Union with God and creating union within ourselves. It focuses on respect for others and ourselves. All teachers in grades K-8 implement this along with their religion curriculum. The Archbishop has now required all our schools in the Archdiocese to use Theology of the Body.

CTK House System

The house system at CTK provides an opportunity for students to interact with teachers and other students who they would not normally have a chance to get to know. At CTK, we have created smaller communities within the larger community where students can make stronger bonds and connections. A sense of inclusion and engagement between all grade levels has taken place as well as our houses providing academic and social-emotional benefits. Other opportunities such as developing leadership skills have developed as our student council has stepped up to plan our monthly activities. Both the teachers and students feel like their houses are like “small school families” within our school community creating an environment focused on God and each other.
